

Horton Shows His Green Thumb

The 2008 session for the Rocky Mountain Soccer camp was another great year for Victor and the camp. Over 250 kids attended the various camps throughout the summer. The campers stay at the old Victor High School and enjoy several of Victor's fine eating establishments for their meals.

A welcome addition to the camp was the installation of sod in the Gold Bowl's infield. The increased practice area allowed the camp to expand their classes and practice areas.

CC&V purchased the sod for the field, and CC&V Environmental Coordinator Gary Horton ensured it's success. Gary spent many hours hand watering the sod, and filling in bare patches with seed. As it turns out Gary is quite the farmer, and despite all early spring appearances the grass held out through the summer for all the camps' activities.

The soccer camp plans to continue to expand their activities, age ranges, and tournament possibilities. It is great to see activity in the Gold Bowl and to have the camper's families in Victor throughout the summer.
